In reply to a request for suggestions to young Americans, he says: Be courageous, not cowardly; exercise self-control, and do nothing in passion; ever exhibit true manliness and strength of will, and be steadfast in adherence to truth and an absolute rectitude of conduct. And he holds that success in life is to be secured by application to duty, patient industry, unfailing courtesy to others, and inflexible integrity of principle. He married, April 22,1875, a cousin, Mary Elizabeth Dozier. Of their five children, the three daughters are married, the elder son was graduated from the University of South Carolina in June of the present year and the younger son is now (1907) a student at that institution. His address is Number 3 Warren street, Sumter, Sumter county, South Carolina....
